NORTHFIELD CONFERENCES —DAY BY DAY—

THE HIGHLIGHTS And Other Information of Interest

FRIDAY, AUGUST 10

"If there is a God it is not the tenor of our arguments but the tenor of our deeds that will persuade men of it. God gave us some of the best kind of religion, and the humanity that wants to be at its best will not start by it without stopping to kneel and to pray," declared Dr. Paul E. Scherer of the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, New York, in addressing the delegates assembled at the General Conference of Christian Workers. He took his text from the 40th verse of Luke VI: "But everyone that is perfect shall be as his master."

"In the midst of the criticism leveled at the Christian church," said Dr. Buttrick, "you will hear little directed against Christ. One of the bitterest revolts that I have ever heard was that of a friend who said that he had nothing against Christ, but he was all done with so-called Christianity, which he considered an obstacle in the way of living. We cannot afford to close our eyes to this sort of thing; it is being taught frankly in many schools and colleges, it is being whispered privately, and it is being shouted on the streets. Christianity cannot be dispensed with, because mankind needs the Christian way of living."

Dr. Adam W. Burnet, in his talk to ministers this morning, gave some very helpful hints to them on the subject of prayer. Prayers are the acts which produce the atmosphere conducive to worship, and many serious, unto which went a great deal of work, have failed because the opportunity given through prayer was lost. The success of a man's preaching depends on whether he has some conception of what prayer really means. Mr. Burnet has written out a number of prayers of invocation because he feels that so much depends on striking the true note at the beginning of the service. He is careful to avoid scented speech and keeps to the simplicity and austerity of great prayers. Some people believe prayers should begin with thanksgiving, and others would have the soul shriven before the service begins, but Mr. Burnet thinks it depends not so much on the order as on whether certain great notes are struck. He does not think any service is adequate which leaves a man with the idea that he has nothing to confess.

For Saturday morning, there will be a meeting for ministers only with Dr. James Black; there will be a general meeting at 9:30 with P. Whitwell Wilson; at 10:30, there will be a song service, and at 11, Dr. Adam W. Burnet will speak in the auditorium. Tomorrow night, David R. Porter will speak at the 7 o'clock Round Top meeting, and Dr. John R. Mott will speak in the auditorium at 8.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 11

Dr. George A. Buttrick, minister of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, spoke last evening in the auditorium on I Kings, VIII:18: "That was I worth to God." David longed to build a temple that he might glorify Israel and call the people to their home in God. But the word came to David: "Thou shalt not build the house." Therein is the tragedy of the unfulfilled; the Bible says he was denied his dream because of his sin, yet, judged by the standards of his time David was an elect soul. But—"The Lord said unto David it was in thine heart to build a house unto my name, thou didst well in that it was in thine heart." Is that, then, the answer? Does God accept our purposes as though they were prayers, our intention as our deed? We must find some answer for this conflict between dreams and fact that confronts us at every turn of the road.

We long to be a blessing to mankind. We long to build a temple. Granted that our world is an intractable world in which dreams win only step by step against stubborn contradiction. Yet the dream persists. We must choose, therefore, between an act of faith, between the persistent hope and the act of circumstance. Your best hopes will not be realized on earth. Jesus was always saying that the truest deed may give God the assurance of a grandeur of soul. You will not be able to complete your Temple of Desire, but do not ever quit the task. Written across the heartbreak of the years and across their struggle is this saving word: "Thou didst well in that it was in thine heart."

Dr. Adam W. Burnet discussed the matter of sermons with the ministers this morning, saying that they should be an act which will bring God into the hearts of the people. The best ones are preached by men who are well acquainted with great literature. A sermon should be arranged under certain clear headings, not necessarily one, two, three, but there should be continuity. The whole matter of writing sermons is a strain, and

Mr. Burnet suggested that when a minister finds himself getting stale, he should visit someone. A very important matter is theology, a hold on the great truths of God as they are crystallized in Christian doctrine. Lucidity, however, is the most important quality. No minister can give the impression at the same time that he himself is clever and that Jesus Christ is great.

Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, honorary minister of the Broadway Tabernacle in New York, will preach at the morning service Sunday in the auditorium at 10:45. Dr. John R. Mott will preach at the 8 o'clock evening service.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 12

East Northfield, August 13—Proof of the rising tide of Christianity, which John R. Mott referred to in his Saturday evening address, was given here Sunday by the immense crowd which filled the auditorium to capacity, and whose enthusiasm and eager attention has hardly been equalled since the days of Dwight L. Moody. People began arriving at the auditorium, which holds over 3000, almost an hour before the morning service began, and by the time the warning bells were tolling there were only a few scattered seats left.

Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, honorary minister of the Broadway Tabernacle, New York, spoke on the question, "Does Christ speak with authority to the 20th century?" He showed that all of the great tragic mistakes of civilization have been made when we deviated from the teachings of Christ, and the time has come when we must either return wholeheartedly to these teachings or expect another great tragedy such as we have never known before.

A sacred concert was given in the afternoon at 4 o'clock under the leadership of George F. Krueger, member of the Westminster Double Quartet. An unusual children's choir was developed under the tutelage of Mrs. Hedgepeth, of the Westminster Choir School of Princeton.

John R. Mott spoke at the eight o'clock evening service in the auditorium in which he stated that although this was the last meeting of the 1934 General Conference, yet he believed that the real work of the congress was just beginning, because, in his opinion, the important thing was what the delegates took away with them, and what part the conference message played in their lives during the ensuing year. He quoted a remark which D. L. Moody made several years ago in which he said that he would not be dead as long as his work was still going on at Northfield. Mott asserted that he believed that the work which Mr. Moody started was not only still going on, but that it was flourishing and expanding and doing a great work in the cause of Christ.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 14

Reverend Walter L. Bailey, pastor of the Park Memorial Baptist Church of Springfield, who is chaplain of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor conference, spoke this morning to the delegates on the subject of "Being Christian Today in my individual life." He urged the young people to ask themselves what are they worth — to themselves, to the church, to their community, and to God. He emphasized the fact that one's religion must show itself in social living.

"To get the most out of life," he said, "we must be Christian in our own individual lives as well as categorically and by affirmation. There is one person for whom you are directly responsible and whose actions most poignantly effect your welfare, and that is yourself."

A recreational and social program has been planned for the delegates as well as the usual prayer services and the regular classwork. Among the competitive sports are tennis, baseball, field day events, and swimming. Stunt night will be held in the auditorium Wednesday evening at eight o'clock.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15

The 28th annual Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Conference continued today with the morning chapel service again being conducted by the Rev. Walter Lee Bailey who spoke on the theme: "Being a Christian in My Home Life." He pointed out that our home is where we are most loved, and it is unfair that we should not be as Christian in the privacy of our own home as we are to the outside world.

Among the courses which are being offered to the delegates are: young people's society methods by Russell J. Blair; vocational guidance by Alvin J. Shurtle; recruiting youth for Christ by the Rev. David Mayer; missionary materials and methods by the Rev.

and Vere Abbey; social issues for Christian youth by Alvin J. Shurtle; and the life of Christ by the Reverend Stanley B. Vandersall. From 2:30 to 5:30 is devoted to games and recreation, and a committee is working on the annual stunt night which is held in the auditorium.

It has been announced that Mrs. Francis E. Clark, co-founder of the Christian Endeavor movement, will be the guest of honor here at the conference on Saturday. With Dr. Francis E. Clark, she helped found the movement in 1881 and aided him in his leadership until 1927. The Reverend Vere W. Abbey, general secretary of the Indian Christian Endeavor movement, will speak on "Christ for all the world" at the Thursday evening service.

DR. J. STUART HOLDEN

Friends in Northfield will be grieved to know that Dr. J. Stuart Holden, the vicar of St. Paul's Church, Portman Square, London, died in his summer home in Scotland last Sunday, August 12. Dr.

Holden had been coming for more than 80 years to the August Conference and has also been a speaker at the girls' conference on several occasions. He was a popular speaker at a great many other conferences and was secretary of the Keswick conference for many years.

The accompanying picture of Dr. Holden was taken in his younger days. During the World War, he was asked by the British Ministry of Information to invite a representative group of men in America to visit Great Britain and France. One of these men was Mr. William Revell Moody, and another was Douglas Mackenzie of Hartford. Dr. Holden was a great minister and endeared himself to thousands of people in this country and abroad.

If any friends in Northfield wish to write to his widow, her address is: The Old Pound House, Wimbledon Common, London, S. W., England.

HOTEL NEWS

The Morgan Memorial children will entertain at the Hotel Northfield, Monday night.

Guests at the Northfield were at Oboers Lookout Tuesday night. An outdoor supper was enjoyed. The Tall Story Club held a session after the supper.

Rev. and Mrs. John S. Curtis of Enfield, Mass., have returned to their home after spending a month at "Heartsease" on Barnard Road.

Edward Dickinson of Enfield, Mass., was a caller on Monday at Rev. John S. Curtis.

BASEBALL TO-NIGHT

The Northfield A. A. with five straight wins to their credit are playing Conway to-night.

The team is going good and playing heads-up baseball at all times. Shorser has returned to the game and a good crowd should be out to-night.

The Flower Show

The Flower Show is only a week away. By the time the Herald comes out next week, it will be over, and another mile post will be past. All through the summer we have been working and planning together with a common end in view, that this our first Flower Show should be a success. Not just the success of crowds or dollars and cents, but success, in that it has contributed a few hours of real beauty to our workaday world. Judges will be present to tell us where we have made our mistakes and how, prizes will be given for our best products that our gardens boast. But it won't be just the lucky few who will be the richer. To each and every one who has taken part from the smallest exhibitor to those who have given the labor of both hand and brain, the world will seem a bigger and brighter place to live in. For we will have seen beauty in tangible form, we have, for those few hours been face to face with something that calls forth the best that we possess.

I would like to feel that our Flower Shows would always be simple, a real expression of community spirit. That envy and greed would find no place in them would always be turned down. I would like to feel that the Garden Club would always make for friendliness, that it would prove one of the links that bind us closer to each other.

The Flower Show is not the end. It must, if it is to be a real success, be only the beginning of finer and better things. And we must grow with it, reaching out always toward bigger ideals and more splendid aspirations.

Our lives are so cluttered up with useless things. We cling so to the rubbish of half-forgotten yesterdays, and there is so little peace in the world, so little of truly gracious living. We scurry around like startled ants, and in doing so, lose our ability to see and to live. We need contact with our ancient mother, we need to find again the serenity and poise she offers to us all. Help yourself and help your neighbor to transplant a bit of God's great outdoors into your life and his. Make the Flower Show not just a mere show, but something that will live in our memories long after the outward beauty has faded and the brief summer has gone. Don't withhold your contribution just because it is small. It may be the flower from your garden, that will linger longest in some-one's heart.

The following is the schedule of the Show.

Section A Dahlias, Class 1, Show Type, 1 bloom. Class 2, Cactus Type, 1 bloom. Class 3, Pompoms or dwarfs, 3 blooms.

Section B Gladioli, Class 4, Large Flowered Type, 3 blooms. Class 5, Primulinus, 3 blooms.

Section C Seasonal Flowers, Class 6, Zinnias, Giant, 3 blooms. Class 7, Zinnias, Liliput, 6 blooms. Class 8, Marigold, Large, 3 blooms. Class 9, Marigold, Small French, 6 blooms. Class 10, Snapdragons, 3 blooms. Class 11, Asters, 3 blooms. Class 12, Perennial Phlox, 3 blooms.

Section D Class 13, Potted Plants.

Section E Class 14, Wild Flowers.

Section F Colonial Bouquets, Class 15, Mixed Bouquets. Class 16, Beantop Bouquets.

Section G Class 17, Miniature Bouquets.

Section H Class 18, Children's Table.

Section I Class 19, Vegetables.

Section J Class 20, Dish Gardens.

GARDEN CLUB MEETING

The Northfield Garden Club met with Mr. and Mrs. William Hoehn last Tuesday night. After enjoying the wonderful view from the porch, the usual box supper was eaten on the lawn. The short meeting that followed dealt mostly with the Flower Show, and the explanation of rules and the schedule. Afterwards, the entire party adjourned to the lovely gardens of Mrs. McRoberts and Mrs. Lee Bolton. Among the things in the McRoberts Garden that attracted special attention, were the trimmed pines that looked like huge, green, feathery balls, and the outdoor fireplace. The phlox and lattice fence at Mrs. Bolton's, also came in for their share of comment.

On the way home, although it was nearly dark, some of the club members, stopped to see the garden at the homes of Mr. Bert Newton and Mr. C. J. Griggs.

RULES AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING EXHIBITS

The Exhibition Committee will award prizes on the recommendations of the judges as set forth in the following schedule:

1. All entries must be made in writing and be in the hands of the Secretary on or before

SATURDAY, AUGUST 18th

2. Exhibits shall be ready for inspection of the judges at 11 A.M. on day of show.

3. All flowers shown in cultural classes shall be plainly labelled by the exhibitor as to their kind and variety. Name of the exhibitor may be affixed after the judging.

4. All flowers for competition must have been grown in the gardens of the exhibitor, with the exception of those shown in decorative classes and gardens.

5. Each entry competes in one class only. No exhibitor may make more than one entry in each class.

6. Exhibitors who do not care to compete for awards may make their showing non-competitively, and will label their exhibits "non-competitive."

7. Exhibitors who wish to qualify for awards must follow the classifications as specifically given.

8. Judges are privileged to withhold award in any class in which exhibit lacks sufficient merit.

9. Exhibitors are expected to maintain the freshness of their exhibits, and no exhibit may be dismantled until the closing hour of the show.

10. Each person who becomes an exhibitor thereby agrees to conform to these terms.

11. Amateurs are defined as those who do not buy, propagate or grow for the purpose of selling for profit.

GUIDES AT FLOWER SHOW

The following young women will assist at the Flower Show, acting as guides.

ANNUAL AUGUST GOLF TOURNAMENT

Final Results or Winners Of August Golf Tournament At Hotel Course

After a week of exciting and interesting golf matches, the annual August Golf Tournament, which is held each year on the beautiful and sporty course surrounding The Northfield Hotel, came to an end last Saturday.

Most of the matches were between players who could always manage to keep their score as low as their opponents, the result being, that one would not dare to guess the winner until almost the very last hole had been played.

Carl Reed, of Northfield, won first prize for having the lowest gross score in the 18-hole qualifying round; and also won the honor of having his name engraved on the silver cup which is awarded to the player having the lowest gross score for the best 36 holes of the tournament play.

Rev. M. M. McDivitt of Pittsburg, Penn., won first prize for having the lowest net score for 18 holes. McDivitt said he never shot less than a "94," but in this tournament his score card showed an "84." Maybe the golf lessons he received from the pro, Al Raymond, are having some effect.

In the first division, C. M. Fisher, a conference guest, defeated Gordon Williams of Rhode Island, 2 and 1. The second division found William (Blonde Bill) Leighton, of Yale, just beating out W. H. Nobbs of Winchendon, Mass. on the 17th green—2 and 1. Johnny Des Jardins of Newark, N. J., defeated Alfred (Buster) LaBelle of Northfield—5 and 4 in the Beaten 16 division.

The winners were each presented with appropriate prizes, and from the smiles upon their faces it seemed that they were satisfactorily rewarded for their efforts.

The tournament is ended, yet each day finds many golfers on this popular course, trying to improve their game, so that when the next tournament is played, in August 1935, they may be among the winners.

THE "TAKE-A-CHANCE CLUB

You won't find the address of the "Take-A-Chance Club" in any telephone book or city directory. It has never been incorporated, and it has no club-house. But a good many thousands of Americans belong to it—though they wouldn't admit—and no "fraternal" organization in the world exacts such high dues.

The ritual of the club runs something like this:

"I will always take a chance when driving my car. I will cut corners and drive on the wrong side of the road if I happen to feel like it. I will make a regular habit of passing other cars on hills and curves. I will always drive faster than road conditions warrant, and I will be especially careful when it is raining or snowing and visibility is poor. I will not make regular inspections of my car's lights, brakes and steering. I'll take it for granted that they are good enough. I will make no effort to learn the traffic laws of my state and community, and if I do happen to discover some of them accidentally, I will break them at every opportunity. I'll let the other driver watch out for me as well as myself, and I'll act as if the highways and streets were my private property.

"I'll pay no attention to traffic lights and stop signs, and I'll do my best to practice none of the courtesies of the road."

The members of the "Take-A-Chance Club" follow this ritual to the letter, and the result is that each year some 30,000 people are needlessly killed in automobile accidents, and property is destroyed to the extent of $1,000,000,000.

Are you a member of the club?

EDITORIAL

We have heard so much about the amount of time, and money that the Administration had to spend in an effort to defeat certain Republican Senators and Representatives that we have been watching for some real opposition to develop in our own Congressional District, in an attempt to defeat Mr. Treadway, but apparently Job Master General Farley is convinced that it can't be done for so far we have heard of only one entrant in the field for the Democratic nomination. And this entrant cannot be called imposing by any stretch of the imagination. He is Fred W. Smith of Adams who, although listed as a Democrat has always been one for Business Reasons only. While his late brother Peter P. Smith was Postmaster, "Fritz" was his Asst. and when a change came in Administration and the job seemed doomed to pass out of the family picture Fritz developed Democratic leanings and was appointed Post Master to succeed his brother who thereupon became the Asst.

While "Fritz" is an amiable gentleman we doubt that he can carry his own town and he certainly won't get to 1st base in the South part of Berkshire County. Not long ago he was appointed to the Mt. Everett Commission by Gov. Ely, displacing Robert K. Wheeler a young and enterprising business man of Great Barrington and one who has given much of his time and money to the job of looking after the Reservation. Bob's one fault on the job was that he was a Republican. The fact that he knew the Mountain as few men do meant nothing. It is a safe bet that Fritz had to take someone along to point the Mountain out to him when he made his first trip over there.

Anyone who has heard the Democratic candidate speak will immediately realize that Mr. Treadway is on his way back to Washington. It takes more than just a desire to hold a public office and the things that have made Mr. Treadway one of the outstanding men in Congress today are just the things which his Democratic opponent lacks.

NORTHFIELD SCHOOLS JOIN BRATTLEBORO HOSPITAL FUND

Every year, from ten to twenty of the students at The Northfield Schools require some sort of emergency surgical attention, or emergency hospital care. Most of these cases are of acute appendicitis requiring immediate hospital treatment. There are also fractures and other things that cannot be cared for in the school infirmaries.

A careful study of these cases during the last few years shows that the average expense to a student or his family for such an illness ranges from $200 to $250. As this is an expense which may come to anyone and which few are able to meet without serious financial embarrassment, the Schools have sought some way of meeting this problem, and have worked out, with the authorities of the Brattleboro Hospital, the following plan.

Beginning with the next school year, 1934-35, a $5.00 additional fee will be charged each student, payable with the first tuition payment. Money received from this source will be used by the Schools to afford protection to all members of the student body for accidental fractures, athletic injuries, or surgical operations of an emergency nature that are necessitated by any accident or sudden illness while the student is in residence at The Northfield Schools. It will cover the entire cost of such illness at the Brattleboro Hospital, including such items, when necessary, as X-ray, anaesthetics, hospital bed, laboratory, nursing and doctor's or surgeon's fees. This applies to emergency conditions of the sort just specified which arise while a student is at Mount Hermon or Northfield Seminary and will not cover chronic ailments which would ordinarily have been cared for at home during vacation; nor does it cover remedial surgical work to care for conditions known to exist before a student entered the Schools. This protection will be afforded a girl or boy only while he is a member of the student body of the Northfield Schools in residence here. This is a contract with the Brattleboro Hospital and its staff, and provides for care at the Brattleboro Hospital only.

The Brattleboro Hospital was founded in 1900 and has a capacity of over 50 beds. It is the largest institution of its kind in southern Vermont, and because of the excellence of its equipment and staff it has been approved for many years as an "A" Class Hospital by the American College of Physicians and Surgeons. This is one of the few hospitals in Vermont which can lay claim to this honor. The chief surgeon at the Brattleboro Hospital is Dr. George R. Anderson, who is a consultant on The School's medical staff and who, with his assistant, will be in charge of treatment of all students in the hospital. Dr. Anderson is a surgeon of unusual skill. He is a member of the American Medical Association, American College of Surgeons and past president of the Vermont Medical Association. Dr. Wheeler, Dr. Anderson's assistant, is a graduate of Harvard Medical School, and had his surgical training at the Lakeside Hospital in Cleveland, Ohio.

This service will round out and make complete the health programs in The Northfield Schools. Each school now has its own full-time resident physician, assisted in each school by two resident nurses and a cook and housekeeper in each infirmary. Betsey Moody, the infirmary at the Seminary, has provision for 14 students, while Dwight's Home, the infirmary at Mount Hermon, has beds for 26. Each infirmary is also equipped with up-to-date dispensaries where day patients are treated at regular hours by the doctors and nurses. The doctor in each school works in close co-operation with the two physical directors and their assistants, who direct the activities in the gymnasiums and swimming pools. All of these services are provided to the student as part of the regular $350 tuition payment. No charge is made for nursing, for a stay at the school infirmary, for the services of the school doctors, or for ordinary medicine dispensed by the school doctors and nurses. The only occasions when any charge is made for medical services at the Schools are when serious or protracted illnesses, such as pneumonia, require the services of a private nurse or the administration of serums or special medicines which have to be ordered for the individual case.

The Schools are making a distinct step forward in this arrangement with the Brattleboro Hospital to cover the cost of emergency surgical work and hospital care.

VERNON UNDERPASS

Good news for local motorists came out of Montpelier last week when the C. V. Railroad was ordered to make the Vernon underpass "safe" for motor vehicles. This spot has been a dangerous one for years because of the blind approaches from both sides. The railroad was ordered to submit plans for the change by Sept. 1st.

I DROWN

Throw me a rope! For I drown
In this wattering sea of self-seeking;
I gasp for kind air, and go down Mid mad billows, swirling, and reeking
Of dark sun of souls dead to sun,
Dead to joyous self-sacrifice, giving;
Waves needing the peace of the One
Who leads by still waters of living!

INTERESTING DAYS

John Oldham, young English satirist poet, who died of small pox at the age of thirty, was born Aug. 9, 1653, at Shipton, Gloucestershire. Critics agree he might have become very famous had he lived to develop his genius. There was no cavine in those days to prevent such deaths.

Gen. Leon of the Northern army, in the American Civil War, gave his life for the victory he won Aug. 10, 1861, in the Battle of Dug Springs, Mo.

The French General Jean Victor
Marie Moreau, aide to Napoleon, and leader of the invasion of Germany, was born Aug. 11, 1763.
Later, persuaded Napoleon was too ambitious, he intrigued against him and was banished.

The peace protocol, precursor to the end of the Spanish-American War, was signed Aug. 12, 1898, at Washington, D. C., by the Secretary of State for the United States, and the French Ambassador for Spain.

The bill adding Oregon as a territory of the United States was passed in Congress, with a Slavery prohibition, on Aug. 18, 1848.

Prince Ferdinand, Duke of Saxony, was installed King of Bulgaria Aug. 14, 1887. Seven years before, on the same day, occurred the death of Canning, Viscount Stratford-de-Redcliffe, the English poet diplomatist who was sent by his government to Turkey on a special mission to fix the boundaries of the new kingdom of Greece.

On Aug. 15, 1921, the U. S.
Congress passed an important bill regulating the sale of live stock and their products, preventing packers using unfair and deceptive practices, or controlling prices, or monopolizing the trade.

MAPLE LEAF MOCK CREAM

Mix 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup flour, and a pinch of salt; beat 2 eggs slightly and add. Scald 2 cups milk and pour gradually over mixture, stirring constantly, until it thick-ens. Cool a little and add lemon or vanilla extract to flavor. Let it get perfectly cold before serving.
This is a Canadian recipe.

WHITE HOUSE MENU

When President Harding had men guests at breakfast, this was the sort of menu he served them:
Grapefruit, hot cereal, scrambled eggs, bacon, wheat cakes with maple syrup, corn muffins, toast and coffee. A hearty meal, much such a one as the famous trencherman President Taft used to eat.

CORN CAKES

Little sister's breakfast corn cakes were very good, made by this rule: 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons sugar,
1 pt. sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda,
2 cups flour, 1 cup corn meal, pinch of salt.

ALABAMA WAFFLES

Mrs. E. J. Schettler made her Alabama waffles "down in old Mobile" as the song says, with 1 pt.
flour, 3 eggs, 1 heaping teaspoon baking powder, 1 level teaspoon butter, 1 level teaspoon salt, and sweet milk enough to make a moderately stiff batter. Warm the milk a little, melt the butter in it, beat the eggs separately and add to the milk, then the salt, and flour, and stir in the baking powder just before baking.

BUTTERMILK PIE

A friend had "the most delicious custard pie she ever ate," she says, in a certain fashionable cafe in San Francisco. I found out it was a buttermilk pie, and I secured this recipe for you for the pie: 3 cups buttermilk, 3 eggs (with whites reserved for mer-ingue), 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 3 level teaspoons soda, flavoring as you choose. Bake in a pie crust with a meringue on top browned. This is enough for two pies.

NUT-CELERY LOAF

As a meat substitute for a hot day, try this baked loaf: Put through meat grinder 1 cup walnut meats and 1-1/2 cups celery, then 1-3 cup dry bread crumbs.
1 teaspoon salt, pepper as desired, and mix with 1 egg, and a cup of water to moisten it. Bake 45 minutes in moderate oven. May serve tomato sauce with it.

CORN OYSTERS

When you have cob corn left over, grate the corn into a dish till you have 1-2 pt. pulp. Add a well beaten egg, 1 tablespoon flour same of butter, and pepper and salt as desired. Drop spoonfuls into deep hot lard and fry golden brown.

CLABBER SALAD

When you have thick sour milk, drain the whey to 1 pt. of clab-ber, carefully and to the pint of clabber add 1 tablespoon chopped chives, a small onion graded fine, a tablespoon of salt and half as much cayenne pepper. Line your salad bowl with crisp lettuce leaves and heap in the middle a
it.

1934, in and to the following described real estate, situate in Northfield, in the County of Franklin, and bounded and described as follows, to wit:

A certain tract or parcel of land, with buildings thereon, situated on the easterly side of Main Street in said Northfield and bounded and described as follows, viz:

Bounded north by land now or formerly of Martha Hall and land now or formerly of Cora Field;
west by said Main Street and land formerly of Mary J. Osgood, now of one Barry; south by land formerly of said Osgood, now of said Harr and land now or formerly of Frank V. Wood; east by East St.
so-called.

Excepting from the above described tract a tract extending 66 feet on Highland Avenue (Formerly East Street) containing 1/4 of an acre, more or less.

Being the same premises conveyed to Adela J. Monat by deed of Ebenezer S. Proctor, dated May 25, 1914, and recorded in Franklin County Registry of Deeds, in Book 602, Page 189, to which deed the record thereof and the reference therein contained, reference is hereby made.

GREEN TOMATO SOY

From Miss Mary Denison of Raleigh, N. Car., comes Mrs. C. B.
Denison's rule for a fine green tomato soy pickle. Cut your green tomatoes and onions in slices, and fill jar with alternate layers, sprinkling each layer with salt.
Stand 36 hours and then wash off the salt, and drain. To each gallon of pickles put 1-2 oz. each onion, black pepper, sliced celery seed, and cinnamon. Put into 3 qts. vinegar with 1 cup mustard seed and 1-2 lb. brown sugar.
Boil, pour in tomato and onion.
Boil 10 minutes and put in jars with a gill of olive oil if you like it.

Winchester

Master Robert Hilary Hunt of Bennington, Vt., is spending the summer again with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunt at their farm home a little out of the village. The view of Ashuelot valley from there is lovely and their land is in good condition. Crops, cows and calves looking well.

Little Patricia Payeski's broken arm is now well and she can help care for the tiny baby. With the heavy traffic on Ashuelot Street much care is needed.

Mr. Fred Swan and son Ralph of Orange visited Mrs. May Capron and attended the Nutting reception.

The Pease fire at the lake called all the fire force and many citizens. But as telephone service was not near the firemen could not arrive early enough to be of much service.

Mrs. Eva Laramore had a little tea-party a few days ago, much enjoyed by the guests.

Rev. Carl and family have been at their farm in Richmond the past month and will remain through August. The pulpit supplies thru July were enjoyed but the attendance lessened somewhat, but the last Sunday Bulletin had announced that Pastor Carl would be in his pulpit August 5 then a full house greeted him and were benefited by the sermon as usual. The soloist, Mrs. Earl Fisher of East Orange, N. J., gave two charming solos.

Mrs. Mary Strickland expects to start this week with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dustin for Meriden, Conn. She will remain several weeks. Last year she stayed nearly three months there enjoying their peaches, pears, plums and grapes. Last fall Mr. and Mrs. Dustin motored down for her.

Mr. Adkins at Forest Lake has had hemorrhage of the brain.

Miss Evelyn Fisher visited over the week-end with friends.

On Aug. 5 Mrs. Lizzie Bullock Nutting was 80 years old and the neighbors thought it a good time to show their appreciation of this estimable woman, therefore they accepted the invitations so kindly mailed by the son, Walter and wife, and nearly 100 people called. Miss Jennie Wood brought a pretty champagne wood vase from Florida. Mrs. Laura Case of Orange sent a choice box of bonbons. Mrs. Hattie Ellis of Orange a bottle of cologne. Mrs. Allison sent a beautiful bouquet. Rev. and Mrs. Carl brought an immense bouquet of assorted flowers from the manse. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Howes brought some of their choice roses. Mrs. Pease, Miss Main and several others brought handkerchiefs. Several friends "chipped in" and a committee selected a variety of articles useful, attractive and sweet, all carefully wrapped and dated for all the month, one daily. So that gives pleasant surprises all the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Nason who recently moved on the Chesterfield Road from Merrimac, Mass., were at church Sunday accompanied by their visitors, Hon. Mr. Pollett of Haverhill, Mass., who is prohibition candidate for Governor of Massachusetts. Also Mr. Doolittle of Merrimac, Mass., Commissioner.

Early Sunday morning, an automobile operated by Arthur L. Fellows of Hampton Beach, N. H., while passing through Keene, struck the parked car of Winfred A. Young of Winchester, throwing Mr. Young, who stood beside his car, about 15 feet to the curb and injuring him, at the same time slightly injuring Mrs. Young and Mrs. Wren who were in the car. The rear end of Mr. Young's car was slightly damaged and the other car sustained a broken front end. Mr. Fellows was arraigned in court Monday on charges of reckless driving and the case continued for one week, pending the outcome of Mr. Young's injuries. Mr. Young is the Manager of the First National Store in Winchester and commonly known as "Wink" Young. His condition is not serious.

of Anglo Saxon Federation of New England. The families of these men were with them. All were met with pleasure by the church people.

HOSPITAL DAY WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Northfield has once more supported her county hospital in a praiseworthy fashion. The food sale held on August 10 cleared $138.30. Add to this amount a contribution of vegetables, canned goods, flowers, and food valued at $22.12 and sent directly to the hospital, and the gift from the town equals $160.42.

The entire town joined heartily in bringing about this success. Special thanks are due Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Moody whose lawns were used for the sale, the Northfield Printing Company, Inc., The Northfield Hotel, Northfield Seminary, many local merchants, summer guests who gave money, and the King's Daughters and Sons, the girls of the club helped at the candy table, and the boys did all sorts of errands.

To the original list of committees should be added the West Northfield soliciting committee, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Lawrence and

Now that the luscious blueberry is in season why not serve the family a blueberry pie?

Everyone, males especially, seems to have a weakness for that delectable dish, with its purple juices blending so perfectly with cream.

Blueberry pie is particularly good when baked in an electric range—the heavy oven insulation sealing in all the juices of the berries.

This same insulation also keeps the heat out of your kitchen—it's never too hot to bake in the summer, nor inconvenient either, for the automatic time and temperature controls take care of all detail, eliminating watching and testing.

If you don't employ the new, easy electric cookery in your home, why not investigate it today?

Your local dealer is now featuring an interesting free installation offer on electric ranges—get in touch with him.

Mrs. Harrison Stacy, Mrs. Mary Field made the quantities of lemonade which proved so refreshing at the tea tables. The poster committee included Mr. Max Huber, Sr., Miss Sophie Seavey, and Miss Marian Kendrick. To the original group of hostesses were added Mrs. George Loom and Miss Katherine Drury.

Mutual thanks are extended from the committee to every person who contributed to the day's success, and from the community to the committee which helped the town give this fine representation in the county.

blueberry pie for dessert!

PLAIN PASTRY FOR TWO CRUST PIE

1 1/2 cups flour 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
Ice water or cold water, about 3 tablespoons

Sift flour and salt together. Add shortening and cut into the flour until a coarse crumbly mixture is formed. Add the water one tablespoon at a time until the mass may be gathered together into one lump. Divide the dough into two lumps, roll on a floured board, place in bottom of pan, press, fitting it closely so no air bubbles remain beneath. The bottom crust may be placed in refrigerator while top crust is being rolled. Roll top crust in the same fashion; fold double and push in a few places to allow steam to escape. Place blueberries in the bottom crust; dampen with water around the edge; adjust top crust, pressing it fast to lower one. Cut away the overhanging edges and flute the edge with the tips of the fingers or with a fork. Brush surface with water or milk.

FILLING

3 cups blueberries 2/3 to 1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
(or 1 tablespoon Minute Tapioca)
1/8 teaspoon salt 1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter, if desired

Mix sugar, salt, cornstarch (or Minute Tapioca). Pour over the berries and stir until well coated. Place in unbaked crust, adjust top crust. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes—reduce oven temperature to 350°, bake 20 minutes—35 minutes in all.

BANISH Drudgery FOREVER WITH ELECTRICITY

THE TRUTH ABOUT THESE THINGS

In the relations between Ford dealers and the car-buying public, it is desirable that all facts and statements should be presented clearly and WITHOUT CONFUSION.

Several points about the Ford V-8 seem to be important enough at this time to merit re-statement and repeated emphasis. They are: Wheelbase, Delivered Prices, Equipment and Economy of Operation.

WHEELBASE: The Ford V-8 comes to you in only one wheelbase—a full 112 inches. There is no doubt or question about this. When we refer to the Ford V-8, we always mean this car in this class. And it is important to realize—in addition—that because the V-8 is a compact engine, every Ford has added expensive car roominess—V-8 construction saves engine space which becomes usable body space.

DELIVERED PRICES: At no time this year have Ford V-8 prices been raised. Instead, they have been reduced. When choosing a car you should consider and compare delivered prices—not merely advertised F. O. B. prices. And you should consider what equipment the delivered prices include.

EQUIPMENT: The following equipment is included on all Ford De Luxe Models without extra charge. It is part of the delivered price. Safety glass throughout; two matched-tone horns; twin cowl lamps; 14 gallons of gas in tank; colored wheels; cigar lighter and ash receptacles; fenders matching body; two adjustable sun visors.

ECONOMY OF OPERATION: The New Ford V-8 costs less to operate than any other Ford ever built. It is extremely economical on gasoline and oil, and its upkeep is slight also. You get the advantages of Ford V-8 performance, faster pickup, an ability to get places without driving strain, but you pay no extra running costs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Edson and family spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Long in Dracut, Mass.

Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Edmunds of Greenland, N. H. are spending their vacation with her mother, Mrs. Julia Kniss.

Miss Eleanor Bruce went Friday to spend the week-end with her friend, Miss Carolyn Gage, in Wakefield, Mass.

The service at the South Vernon Church will commence next Sunday. All services on Standard Time.

9:30 A.M. Church School, 10:45 A.M. Sermon by Rev. Alfred H. Evans of West Northfield.

7 P.M. Song Service followed by a sermon by Mr. Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rowan and son, of West Northfield and niece of Greenfield, Mass. went to Thompsonville, Conn., Sunday.

Cecil Wilson and Ralph Gibson of West Northfield, visited the former's brother, Harvey Wilson, in Chester, Vt., Sunday.

Miss Maude Radway, Mrs. H. V. Martineau, and Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Evans of West Northfield, took a 250 mile trip last Sunday quietly enjoying the whole trip. They went up the West River valley to Newfane, then on to Rutland, thence to Plymouth, Vt. and visited all of the buildings and the grave on the hillside of the late ex-President Calvin Coolidge.

Elmer Scherlin has graduated and received his diploma from the Vaughan Barber School, in Connecticut and returned home ready to serve the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Alec Ried and son and daughter of Belleville, N. J., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Holton.

Miss Helen Szeszowski of Northampton, Mass., has returned home to spend her vacation with her parents, in West Northfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zaluzny are entertaining relatives from New York City.

As Mr. Charles Browning and Percy Gates of West Northfield, Mass., were driving to Brattleboro Monday morning, they ran head-on into a truck near the Brattleboro railroad station with such force that (report says), it threw Mr. Gates through the windshield, cutting his jugular veins. Mr. Gates dying soon after. Mr.

Browning was taken to Newfane jail.

Perley F. Gates was the only son of John and Nellie Gates of Westminster, Vt. He was born on Dec. 2, 1877. He had six sisters, Nina, Grace, Edna, Mabel and Angie (wife of the late Edgar E. Aldrich of West Northfield, Mass.). Mrs. White of Andover, Mass., Mrs. Mabel Norton of Springfield, Mass., Mrs. Bert Frenya of Pittsfield, Mass., Miss Nina Gates of Green River, Vt., Mrs. William Lane of Waterbury, Vt.

He was unmarried and a very devoted son to his mother. After her death he came to live with his sister, Angie Aldrich at her home in West Northfield.

When he was a lad of 13, he would cut a cord of wood a day and gloried in it, for he was an expert wood chopper and liked it. When he left home Monday morning he told his sister he was going to Brattleboro to look for a job as he had seen an ad in the paper for a wood chopper. Report says he had formerly worked for Mr. S. J. Martineau in South Vernon also over on the reservoir, in Northfield, Mass.

Two automobile accidents in the same family on the same road and on the same evening. Edward Holton, Sr., of West Northfield, Mass., drove to Brattleboro, Vt., Saturday evening and parked his car in the business section of the village, leaving an unknown man, supposedly asleep in his car. During Mr. Holton's absence, this sleeping individual awoke and departed with the car. Officers were notified of the departure of the car and they traced it and found it near the Vernon railroad underpass wrecked beside the road and the thief nowhere to be found. Rumor says that the son Edward Jr., hearing of the accident was afraid for the safety of his father and sister, so he took his Plymouth car and started out to the aid of his folks. When he was near Bushnell's roadside stand in Vernon he ran into Mr. Hobart Rhineworth car of Chesterfield, N. H., which was being towed behind another car with no tail lights. Reports says Edward, Jr., car turned over twice, injuring him severely. He received a bad gash on his arm and hand cutting his hand nearly through the center. He was taken to Brattleboro by Sheriff P. J. O'Keefe where 14 stitches were taken to close the wound.

Sheriff P. J. O'Keefe and Deputy Sheriff George Daley of Brattleboro investigated both accidents.

Report says that Mr. and Mrs. Harold LaPlante's children are ill with the whooping cough. We are glad that the epidemic of whooping cough which has raged so severely these past several weeks in this vicinity is nearly over. The quarantine cards were pretty thick for a time.

Rev. C. O. Dunham and son and daughter, Miss Ida Dunham and a party of friends of South Londonderry, Vt., were Thursday callers of Mrs. E. E. Bruce. The Girls 4-H Humming Bird Club met here at the same time. They had a mission meeting followed by making desk sets. They also showed an exhibit of their work to the Londonderry party.

Rev. and Mrs. George A. Gray and two daughters, Miss Nina and Mrs. Dorothy Tibbetts returned home to South Vernon from the Palmer camp meeting, Monday. They have now gone to Mrs. Tibbetts' home in Loudon Ridge, N. H. They expect to attend Alton Bay, N. H. camp meeting before returning home from their vacation.

Mr. Henry O. Russell has returned from a week's visit with his sister, in Port Chester, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Stanford and daughter, Miss Mary and son David of Stockton, Cal., were dinner guests of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Allen last week Wednesday. Mr. Stanford, is Prof. of Biology in the College of the Pacific. Mrs. W. C. Tyler and three daughters, Marjorie, Marion and Isabelle, were dinner guests there also.

E. W. Dunklee was a recent visitor in Randolph, Vermont.

Mrs. Inez A. Brown, had the pleasure of attending services at the Baptist Church in Brattleboro, Vt., listening to a sermon given by Dr. Haynes of Haddonfield, N. J. He also visited the different departments in the Sunday Vacation Bible School work. It was very interesting to see how interested the children were in their work. The kindergarten class had their sand pile to interest them, the other classes of the primary, junior and intermediate cut out a picture of flowers and churches, pasted them into a white background. Others made silhouette pictures. The boys made candle sticks and built churches out of sticks.

GOVERNOR'S DAY AT EASTERN STATES EXPOSITION

Monday, Sept. 17, will be devoted to an inspection of the Exposition, a luncheon at noon on the grounds of the Massachusetts State building when Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts and his executive council will be hosts to the distinguished visitors, an afternoon at the grandstand for the light harness races and the opening of the championship outdoor stampee and rodeo, and attendance at the opening session of the Springfield Horse Show Monday evening.

In the afternoon also, Gov. Ely and his council will meet in the Massachusetts State building and it is customary also for Gov. John G. Winant and his council to meet in their chambers in the New Hampshire State building.

The Governor's Day Committee as announced by the Exposition trustees for 1934 is: Honorary Chairmen, Gov. Ely and former governors Frank G. Allen, Alvan T. Fuller and Channing H. Cox of Massachusetts; Henry S. Johnston, chairman, West Springfield Board of Selectmen; Mayor Henry Martens of Springfield and Joshua I. Brooks of Springfield, president, Eastern States Exposition also for Gov. John G. Winant and his council to meet in their chambers in the New Hampshire State building.

With Mr. Fraser as general chairman are: Dr. Harry M. Gilbert, Franklin J. Gray and James A. Williams, vice chairmen; Adrian L. Potter, executive secretary; and representing the Exposition board of trustees, Guy H. Boyce, James F. Dewey and John F. Weeks, Vermont; Frederick F. Brewster, E. Kent Hubbard and Samuel R. Spencer, Connecticut; R. R. M. Carpenter, Delaware; Z. Marshall Crane, J. Loring Brooks, Jr., Harry G. Ives, Leo L. Cline, Charles A. Nash, John C. Robinson, Albert C. White, Jr., and George A. Williamson, Massachusetts; William I. Cummings and Henry F. Merrill, Maine; Milan A. Dickinson, George M. Putnam and Ralph F. Seavey, New Hampshire and Oscar F. Kinney, New York.

Lake Pleasant

An audience which required every available seat and necessitated the bringing of extra chairs filled the Temple Sunday afternoon and listened to a most instructive discourse upon the subject "The Divine in Man" by Mr. Frederick A. Nicholson held the close attention of his auditors for nearly an hour and followed with a message service which made a profound impression, every message being readily recognized.

In the evening he held another message service which was the closing meeting of a most successful engagement.

Monday evening Mrs. Thora Pierson unexpectedly arrived on the grounds Sunday and the management of the camp arranged a special service for her at the request of many of the campers.

During the week Mrs. Catherine Huenniger of Buffalo, N. Y., who had a most successful season here last year has been occupying the platform of the Temple to the satisfaction of good sized congregations. Mrs. Huenniger's engagement will terminate Sunday when she will speak and give messages at all three services.

Camp meeting is in full swing and the hotel and cottages are well filled.

CHEVROLET

The exceptional popularity which Chevrolet has enjoyed for many years has naturally had its effect on Chevrolet prices. Large sales have enabled Chevrolet to maintain consistently low purchase prices, which were recently lowered even further. As a result Chevrolet now offers you the lowest priced six-cylinder automobile obtainable—a big, comfortable car with Fisher Body styling and refinement—safe, weatherproof, cable-controlled brakes—the smoothness and economy of a valve-in-head, six-cylinder engine—and typical Chevrolet dependability. In offering this car, and the Master models, at substantially lower prices, Chevrolet hopes to repay the motoring public in some measure, for consistently placing Chevrolet so high in public favor.

COUNTY JERSEY CATTLE CLUB MEETS AT SOUTH AMHERST

The County Jersey Club will meet August 22 at the U. G. Groff farm in South Amherst.

The morning will be given over to the inspection of the farm and herd, judging contests, etc.

The lunch will be on the basket plan, the host will furnish ice cream and drink.

Speakers of National reputation are expected from the American Jersey Cattle Club, the Massachusetts Milk Control Board, and the Massachusetts State College.

Mr. Groff's beautiful farm is situated in the Connecticut Valley and is a most attractive place for a Field Day. His herd is nationally known and well worth a trip to see. Side trips may be made to the State College, and other well known Jersey farms in the immediate vicinity.

Every lover of good cattle can afford to take the day off and meet their associates at the farm of Mr. U. G. Groff, South Amherst, Massachusetts.

WAIT A MINUTE

"Before you hang up—here's someone who wants to say a word to you." Then, after a moment's delay, a piping treble says: "Hello, daddy—when are you coming home?"

How that salute gives wings to one's spirit! A thrill to one's heart! How it smooths away routine! It isn't selfish enjoyment—it's mutual, shared by each participant.
That's the kind of social relationship night rates were designed to encourage... How much it's worth, only those who enjoy it can say; how little it costs may be suggested by typical rates.

To illustrate the low cost of toll calls during the night rate period, the following typical rates are listed for a 3-minute station-to-station call (what is, a call by number) after 8:30 p.m. from

SAM STREETER WILL RUN

Samuel U. Streeter, who was appointed County Commissioner following the death of the late Frank Gerrett in August 1933, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the four year term expiring January 1st 1939.

Streeter is a native of Greenfield, and except for a few years prior to the World War spent in Boston and the Middle West, has spent the greater part of his life there. Enlisting in the Army October 1917, he served 13 months overseas, being discharged in April 1919. Since 1920 he has been Vice President of the Rugg Mfg. Company of Greenfield, manufacturers of rakes and snow shovels, in charge of sales and distribution.

Active for many years in Republican politics in the County, he served on the Republican Town Committee of Greenfield from 1922 to 1926, being Chairman the last four years. He was Chairman of the Franklin County Calvin Coledge Finance Committee in 1924, and has been Treasurer of the Franklin County Republican Council since it was formed.

He has devoted much time to community service, being President of the Greenfield Kiwanis Club in 1927, and a director of the Greenfield Chamber of Commerce at two different times. He is at present director of the Health Camp for county children, and of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and a Trustee

Gall Bladder Disease

Persistent digestive disturbance
Persistent digestive disturbances, especially during or after middle life, should arouse suspicion of disease of the gall bladder. There may be intervals or varying lengths in which the patient is free from symptoms. These are followed by attacks of pain, chills and slight rise in temperature. Pain may come at any time and start in the middle of the abdomen, or beneath the ribs on the right side and often extends back under either shoulder blade.

Many patients complain merely of vague digestive disorders, flatulence, belching, acid eructations, and a sensation of weight or oppression in the upper abdomen. The symptoms of gall bladder and gallstones are similar, and clinical examinations may fail to demonstrate whether gallstones are present or not.

Thorough examination by your physician and x-ray study are of major importance in the diagnosis of gall bladder disease, in order to determine the best method of treatment in each case.

DISABLED MUST HAVE JOBS OR PUBLIC AID

WASHINGTON—Employers must be induced to hire "a proper proportion" of handicapped persons or the great bulk of such workers will have to be pensioned and kept in idleness "at enormous cost to the public," the special commission reports in findings made public by the National Recovery Administration.

The commission's report is based upon field studies made in 14 representative cities and upon an analysis of replies to an intensive questionnaire sent to all vocational rehabilitation supervisors in the country as to private placement agencies for the handicapped and a selected list of social-service agencies.

Regarding the rumored widespread discharge of handicapped employees immediately prior to or following the adoption of codes, the report declares that "in many localities no instances of this were found at all," though the report "seemed to be well-founded" in Massachusetts. Similarly, but few instances were reported of efforts to employ efficient handicapped workers under substandard certificates, though the commission recommended as desirable "a check-up of this and other features" at a later date.

URGENT THAT MAILS BE CLOSED TO LIQUOR PROPAGANDA

Dr. Thomas Nixon Carver, professor of political economy of Harvard University, urged the closing of the mails to "liquor propaganda" in a recent meeting held at National W.C.T.U. headquarters in Evanston, Ill. Liquor interests, he said, were "moving heaven and earth and hell" in a campaign to increase the sale of intoxicants. He declared that "all who are not definitely for the liquor business should take sides against it."

A parallel is seen in cigarette smoking by women, it is pointed out. Sales to them have been enormously increased by millions of dollars put into advertising in the press, radio, bill boards and otherwise. No one a generation ago would have believed that our women would today be the heavy consumers of cigarettes that many of them have become.

Since advertising has broken down the resistance of many conscientious women to the poisonous effects of nicotine in cigarettes, what is to prevent the success of a persistent advertising campaign by the liquor interests to break down the resistance of equally fine women to the poisonous and degrading effects of alcohol, it is asked.

Greed for profit motivates those engaged in the traffic, and as long as the sale of deleterious products is in the hands of profiteers, whether of alcohol, cigarettes, dope or munitions of war, there is little that can be done in the matter.

The attractiveness of countless county fairs this fall will be increased by Grange exhibits of great variety, some representing untold preparation.

WILL YOLEN'S NEW YORK NEWSLETTER

The gossip columnist's war in the Metropolis is revived, with Leonard Lyons, the Post's white hope, taking a columnar swipe at Broadway columnist Ed Sullivan, the New's reformed sports writer.

It all started when Lyons accused Sullivan of forsaking a widely announced policy of "absolutely no back-stair gossip." Another accusation was to the effect that Sullivan had resorted to a low form of clap trap—picking on someone in a high place just because of the high place and not the person.

Just where the battle will end no one dares predict. Walter Winchell, one of Sullivan's non-admirers has kept out of the argument except to mention that there is one.

Neutrals in the matter are of the opinion that Lyons, who is a newcomer in the field, went a bit too far in denouncing Sullivan. And further, he had fallen into the same category by picking on someone in a high place—even if it is just another columnist.

Sid Harmon, one of the youngest producers in New York is planning to bring out three shows in the fall. He is very secretive about them. One of them, I have discovered will be on the type of his "Men in White," the Pulitzer prize winner of the year. Harmon will also blossom out with a wife-son. The bride is a beautiful divorcee who told me that she plans to help her forthcoming husband in his work. Not only can she act and dance but she can write, the last accomplishment having been attained when she was a member of the writer's club in the high school she attended in Connecticut.

One of the coolest places in the City is the Roof Garden of the Hotel McAlpin. It is not surprising because a sustained South wind blows continuously through its terraced windows. But that's not what I started out to say.

It seems that a stranger to the Roof Garden walked to and fro in the famous dining room, sniffing as he went along. The waiters observed him but were too trained to inquire into the sniffing. Before leaving the place for the evening the stranger opened his coat and took one real big sniff.

The next night he re-appeared, accompanied by three other men. All four went sniffing about the place until the head waiter could stand it no longer. Approaching the quartet he asked for the reason for all the sniffing and inhalations.

Apparently as though they hadn't heard him all four began talking in reminiscent tones.

"Yep," said one, "that's the same wind. I remember it when I took charge of the revolution in Santo Domingo."

"It's the same wind, all right," remarked another. "I remember how it blew through the cañal in Mexico when we had to hide for a couple of nights after the revolution."

"It sure is the same wind," joined in the other two. Subsequent remarks indicated that all four had at one time or another been involved in some revolutionary movement in the Latin countries.

The headwaiter walked away quietly, and apprehensively waited for the revolution that he was sure would come in the McAlpin Roof Garden as soon as the South wind went to the heads of the quartet of adventurers.

I found out from Ivor Peterson that a good accordionist can draw out a whole orchestra. Peterson, who acts as the background music in many Warner Brother productions—that is, his accordion furnishes the music—and is a Victor recording artist on the same instrument, gave me a demonstration on how loud an accordion can become. When I left the demonstration room in a hurry when the noise became too much for me, he grinned victoriously and boasted "I bet an orchestra couldn't drive you out."

A fascinating corner in the City is 47th Street and Broadway, in front of the Palace Building. It is there that most of the actors out of work are to be found "at liberty." Inside the building are many offices, most of which are exclusively devoted to agents who feverishly seek acts for their actors, none admitting that the vaudeville of old is just that—vaudeville of old—and will probably never return to its former glory.

In that building are agents who have booked some of the greatest acts in the world. They have sent out on the road such luminaries as Jolson, Cantor, Barrymore and hosts of others who have become household words.

Strangely enough one of the most interesting characters in the building is neither an actor nor an agent. Vincent the shoe shine boy stands out as the land mark in a building which is itself a landmark.

Vincent has been in the building ever since any one can remember and he is called "boy" despite the fact that he is a grand-father. Vincent is self educated, he will have you know. None of the fripperies of the modern school for him. Besides he's been too busy to allot himself time for a formal education.

It is after telling you all this that he breaks out into poetry. And what poetry! He runs through the American classics as though they were part of his every day language and broken. Then to the rhythm of his brushes he gives you as much of the brave Homeric poems as you can stand—in Greek. To the flapping of his shine rag he gives you the Latin Classics—in Latin. He tells the stories of the honorable Don X Quixote in Spanish and will reveal the innermost passions of Dante in a fine Italian.

If then you have any doubts of his education he will ask you to name a language—any language—and he will give excerpts from poems or stories in that language.

And if you have any doubts as to his being a good shine boy a heart look will come into his eyes.

$4,000 in Prizes Feature Farm Week at Fair; Champions to Vie in Sports, Health Events

Henry Ford's Industrialized Barn, shown here, a new exhibit at the Chicago World's Fair this year, demonstrates how farmers can effect their own relief by raising and producing soy beans. Left inset: John C. Dameron, Weston, Ill., whose hog-calling championship will be a mark for farmers to shoot at during Farm Week at the Fair, Aug. 11 to 18. Right inset: Mrs. Nick Owings, Blue Island, Ill., last year's husband-calling champion, whose title is also at stake. The milkmaids' championship is up, too.

CHICAGO.—Four thousand dollars in cash prizes is being offered to farmers and future farmers of America by A Century of Progress during Farm Week at the Fair. Contests which range from sports events to spelling bees, and which provide competition for men and women boys and girls, will be staged in the Court of States and other parts of A Century of Progress grounds from August 11 to 18, when Chicago's great World's Fair is host to American agriculture.

Probably the banner event of the week will be a horse-pulling contest in which the finest draft animals to be found on American farms will be pitted against one another in both two-horse and four-horse teams. A total of $1500 has been hung up for this event which will occupy two days, Friday, August 17, and Farm Sports Day, Saturday, August 18, with the preliminaries on Friday and semi-finals and finals on Saturday. First prize is $700, second $400, third $250 and fourth $100.

Farm boys and girls will have a chance at the next largest total of prize money, for $650 has been set aside to reward health, spelling and fashion champions, on Farm Youth Day, Thursday, August 16. The health contest will be unique in the annals of American competition, for the National 4H Clubs' champions of 1933, a boy and two girls, who tied for the championship, will meet the health champion boy and girl of Chicago to determine whether the city or the farm produces the healthiest American children. The winning boy and the winning girl each will receive $250 and the traveling expenses of the 4H clubs' champions will be paid from their homes to the World's Fair grounds. In addition, there will be prizes totaling $100 for the best boy and girl spellers of 14 years and under, and $50 for farm girls of 18 and under who make and model the most charming dresses.

Next in line in total prize money come farm sports, to be staged on Friday, August 17 and Saturday, August 18. For a tug-of-war of eight-men teams, a total of $175 is offered with first prize of $100, second of $50 and third of $25. This event will be held in the Court of States, Friday, August 17. On Saturday, there will be a milking contest, a hog-calling contest and a husband-calling contest, with a total of $150 in prize money and with entrants including state and community champions from many miles around Chicago.

Old fiddlers from the farms of Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa and other agricultural states will appear on the stage of the Court of States Wednesday, August 15, during Farm Women's Day, with $50 in prize money offered.

Nor has mother been forgotten, for there is to be a special contest for her on Farm Women's Day. Needle women from America's farms will compete for a total of $50 in prize money in a darning contest in which both speed and neatness will count toward the three prizes offered.

Three contests will be held open during the entire week and entrants will be asked to register at a designated headquarters. These are for the farm family coming the greatest

One of the thrills for farmers during Farm Week at the Chicago World's Fair, Aug. 11 to 18, will be this mechanical farmer directing a tractor by radio in the International Harvester exhibit. Looking on are Rufus C. Dawes (left) president of the Fair, and H. E. McKinstry, president of the International Harvester company.

HOUSE OF HAPPINESS

Take what God gives, O Heart of mine,
And build your House of Happiness.
Perchance some have been given more;
But many meet life's days with less.
The treasure lying at your feet,
Whose value you but faintly guess.
Another builder, looking on,
Would give great labours to possess.
Have you found work that you can do?
Is there a heart that loves you best?
A store of health to meet life's needs?
O build your House of Happiness!

INTERESTING DAYS

A most interesting and stimulating person to introduce the children to, in supper table conversation, Aug. 16, is William Romaine Gallender, born at South Shields, England, on that day in 1857. Trained in both science and music, he was at the same time a composer and an inventor, a writer and an organizer, orchestra conductor and director of the Brentford, Ontario, Philharmonic Society. He invented the automatic telephone exchange system, pneumatic and electric organ actions, autographic plane recording and reproducing apparatus and other interesting things. He died four years ago.

Two people direct antithesis of each other, were born on the same day and year, Aug. 17, 1786; the gracious Victoria, Duchess of Kent, mother of Queen Victoria; and Davy Crockett, rough and daring pioneer Indian fighter in the American colonies.

Seymour John Bennett, director of the National War Savings Department of London, was born Aug. 18, 1848, in Tasmania. On the same day 72 years before, Sumter defeated Tarleton in the Battle of Fishing Creek, S. C.

Gen. Sumter's services to the new young republic were so valued that he was publicly thanked by Congress the following year, and Ft. Sumter named for him.

The inventor of the steam hammer, James Nasmyth, a Scottish engineer, was born in Edinburgh Aug. 19, 1808, son of a famous portrait and landscape painter, Alexander Nasmyth.

Two men of note who died Aug. 20, 1930, were the Hon. William Browne of the Supreme Court of South Africa, and George John Bennett, organist and master of choristers of Lincoln Cathedral for 35 years, who published much church music, songs, organ music and transcriptions.

Princess Margaret Rose, daughter of the Duke of York and granddaughter of King George, is 4 years old on Aug. 21 this year. Her cousin Gerald David, son of Princess Mary and the Earl of Harewood, is 10 years old the next day.

BIG BLACK CAKE

"Moos" gave me this old, old "Down South" recipe for a 15 lb. "grooms' cake," or for use in the Christmas holidays. Too far away to think about now! Not a bit for a cake that is better left to "open" as many heavy fruit cakes surely are. This one, which I understand originated with Mrs. Mary Eliza Simmons of the Bluff Plantation, takes 1 lb. each of butter, sugar, flour, 11 eggs, 3 grated nutmegs (6 teaspoons), 2 teaspoons mace, 1 teaspoon ground clove, 1-2 lb. seed chocolate grated, 1-2 cup rosewater, 1-2 cups brandy or sherry (helps to preserve the cake, and keep it moist), 4 lbs. each of seeded raisins and currants, 2 lbs. finely chopped citron.

Cream the butter and sugar together, and add the well beaten eggs. Drain the prepared fruit with part of the flour, sift the rest and add it alternately with the liquids to the rest of the mixture, then stir in the fruit. Put it into a pan which has been greased, then lined with brown paper and greased again. Bake in a slow oven (250 degrees) for 3-1-2 hrs. If desired, the recipe can be changed by substituting preserved cherries and pineapple for part of the raisins, and chopped almonds for part of the currants, to make it richer.

distance, the largest farm family present during Farm Week, and the oldest couple present during Farm Week. The total prizes for these events is $150.

Prizes for other events and contests totaling $775 have been set aside.

Farm Week last year at the World's Fair was the biggest week both in special features and in total attendance ever held at any American exposition, and authorities of A Century of Progress are confident that this year will duplicate last year's success.

Agricultural leaders of national reputation have promised to visit the fair and participate in the various scheduled events. One of America's leading farm experts is scheduled to address the assembled farm attendance on Farm Organization Day, August 13. Radio entertainers most popular with farmers will be on the grounds on August 14, Farm Radio Day, which will culminate in a two-hour presentation of the famous WLS barn dance.

Wednesday, August 15, is Farm Women's Day and special events of interest to the women of America's farms have been planned.

One of the most popular features of last year's Farm Week at the Fair was a daily special tour for Farm Week visitors. Under the guidance of World's Fair employees, farm parties met at many of the entrance gates and visited the adjacent areas as an organized party. There is absolutely no charge for this service, it being included in the admission fee of 50c for adults and 25c for children. This feature will be repeated this year.

Among the various exhibits and buildings that will be of special interest to Farm people will be the Foods and Agricultural building; Farm Machinery Hall; driverless radio-controlled tractor; Model Farm House; the Universal Elver House; Model Barn and Dairy; International Egg-Laying Contest and Illinois Agricultural Building.

One of the most attractive exhibits on the grounds for farm folk is the old Ford barn to the south of the great Ford building, one of this year's new features. This barn houses special processing machinery for soy beans and demonstrations of the possibilities of industrializing small American farms are held there daily.

All railroads, bus lines and other transportation lines are offering attractive low round trip rates to Chicago for Farm-Week-at-the-Fair. Transportation agents in every community will furnish detailed information. If you plan to drive to A Century of Progress, World's Fair authorities promise that no restrictions or burdens of any kind are placed on motorists from other states or other countries who drive to the World's Fair in Chicago. Motor tourists from any state or nation may visit Chicago, use its streets and highways freely for any period they may desire, without costs, charges or fees of any kind.

Over 30,000 automobiles can be parked within one mile of the World's Fair gates, and two-thirds of this number within three blocks of the entrances. Parking charges are reasonable and vary, according to location and service.

The admission price to the "Biggest Show on Earth" is 50c for adults and 25c for children under 12 years. On Thursday, August 16, children under 12 years will be admitted for 5 cents, which price will also be in effect at numerous rides, shows and concessions.

often stayed, they were served with a pie which he liked immensely. Here is the recipe:

Mix a rounded tablespoons of flour, a pinch of salt and 3-4 cup sugar and make into a custard with 2 beaten eggs and 2-1-2 cups milk. Fill a tin lined with a thin crust (not baked) and put in oven to set custard, then sprinkle with nutmeg when removing from oven.

FRUIT SOUP

For hot weather a fruit soup is delectable, and easy to prepare. Use any fruit, for instance 4 cups berries or apricots mashed with 1 cup sugar. Let it stand 2 hrs. Strain through the sieve, bring to a boil, and add 2 teaspoons cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water. Stir till thick and smooth, add 1-2 cup strained orange juice, take off the fire and chill. Serve in chilled glasses.

TOWN HALL COMMITTEE

In order to clear up a misunderstanding resulting from a news item in an out of town paper, we repeat an item of last week. The Committee to inspect the Town Hall was not appointed by the Selectmen but by the Moderator and it has not as yet inspected the Hall nor has it held a meeting.

Fair Radio Find

You may be hearing the voice of Ernest Lee, B. Chicago, on the air waves one of these nights. He is shown here as he entered the World's Fair radio audition. With him is Norman Ross, announcer at the Fair's Lagoon Theater. The contest, being conducted at Newspaper Row in the Hall of Science, is open to anyone, and the winners will be starred in a coast-to-coast NBC broadcast, after the closing, Aug. 18.
